

CHÂTEAU ARTIGUES DE SÉNÉJAC 2015

Sénéjac's vineyard lies on a plateau overlooking the commune of Le Pian. A former barony, it was first owned by Nicolas de Bloys in the 16th century. In 1999, the property was given new impetus to improve quality and join the ranks of Médoc's finest wines when it was acquired by Lorraine Cordier, who also owned Château Talbot, a Grand Cru Classé in Saint Julien.

Following her death, the estate is now managed by her sister, Nancy Bignon-Cordier, and her family. Artigues de Sénéjac is Château Sénéjac's second wine.

TASTING NOTE

Very attractive in the glass thanks to its beautiful gamet colour. The nose offers an elegant cocktail of fresh, fruity aromas with some lightly toasted notes. The attack is supple, underscored by a pleasant freshness, the light yet plump tannic structure creates an overall impression of roundness.
